Internet Use Policy

Disclaimer

The internet offers access to ideas, information and commentary from around the world which can be personally, professionally and culturally enriching. However, not all sources on the internet are accurate, complete or up-to-date. The Spring Green Community Library cannot guarantee information found on the internet to be accurate, authoritative, factual, timely or useful for users' purposes. If any user believes that information obtained via Library PCs is inaccurate or offensive, the user should contact the original producer or distributor of the information.

The Spring Green Community Library is not responsible for how people use the internet.

The authority to determine what is illegal content rests with the courts as defined in Wisconsin and federal statutes.

Access, use, or dissemination of information via the internet in the Spring Green Community Library is the responsibility of the user. In the case of minors (under 16), it is a joint responsibility of the user and the parent or guardian. Because parents or guardians may feel that information available through the internet is not suitable for viewing by children in their care, supervision is advised.

Guidelines for Computer Use

- All internet resources available in the library are provided to each patron on a first-come, first-served basis during open library hours. Patrons may also reserve a computer. To do so, contact the Library.
- The library limits users to 120 minutes per day in order to provide maximum access to all patrons. Library staff can extend sessions as needed on a case-by-case basis.
- Persons who use the computers assume responsibility for the hardware and software during their use.

Copyright

U.S. Copyright law (Title 17 U.S. Code) prohibits the unauthorized reproduction or distribution of copyrighted material, except as permitted by the principles of fair use. Users may not copy or distribute electronic materials, including electronic mail, text, images, programs or data, without the explicit permission of the copyright holder. Any responsibility for the consequences of copyright infringement lies with the user. The library expressly disclaims any liability or responsibility resulting from such use. The library expressly disclaims any liability or responsibility arising from access to, or use of, information obtained through electronic information systems, or consequences thereof.

Guidelines for Wireless Internet Use

The Library's wireless network is not secure, and the Library cannot guarantee the safety of traffic across its wireless network. Anti-virus, security, and privacy protection is the responsibility of the user.

The Library cannot guarantee the wireless service will be available at any specific time or that the connection will have any specific quality or speed, and there is no guarantee that a patron will be able to make a wireless connection.

The Library assumes no responsibility for any alterations or interference with equipment's configurations, operation, or data files resulting from connections to the Library's wireless network. The Library assumes no responsibility for damage, theft, or loss of any kind to property brought into or used at the Library.

While patrons are invited to access to the internet via the Library's wireless portal, the Library Staff is not able to provide technical assistance, and no guarantee can be made that patrons will be able to make a wireless connection.
